

To whom it may concern,

I believe that requiring broadcasters to hold onto recordings of their programs for 60-90 days raises an incredible First Amendment Issue. It infringes upon our freedom of speech as well as freedom of the press. In a climate such as the one we stand in today, I understand the FCC's want to prohibit obscene or profane material, but I am afraid that other considerations will come into play. For a station such as WWCD, what has such a small staff and limited storage space, this would come as a great cost to us. Also, I do not believe that stations such as WWCD should have to modify our current programming to meet with the governments certain political interests. Also, how are we to keep up with our local and community programming without hinderance in such a case? I implore you to please cease with these proceedings.

Thank you,

Jordan Schmidt
